Porter-Kelly-That the report of the Finance Committee be accepted and cheques issued—Carried.

The Committee on Public Works and Scavenging reported as follows: That work in this department has been carried forward satisfactorily during the month with exception that there was not as much road and street grading as we had anticipated owing to the fact that the work on cesspools etc. demanded almost the entire time of the Town Engineer.

Eight days work was put in during the month by extra men (Murphy and Brown) who were employed to assist with grading, mow weeds, and repair sidewalks, to the extent of $32.00.

The bill as rendered, covering the work on cesspools to the telephone office, being in the proportion of $40.00, the amount due by the Town and the amount of $88.00 rebilled to the Alberta Government Telephone Co. was found satisfactory and passed.

There is a small bill yet to come in for the grading of the block on Seventh avenue and some street grading on the Main street by Norman King. When the bills for these items come in, the amount remaining within the appropriation will just about cover general repair work on sidewalks, street grading and possible snow cleaning in the winter, so that in the main repairs to the Main street side-offers re sidewalks cannot come in within the regular appropriation.

That as suggested, by Council your Committee interviewed the manager of the Edmonton-Wainwright Oil Co. and arrangements can be made with that Co. for the supply of crude oil at a price of $1.00 per barrel at the well and arrangements can be made to deliver same to the plant at 30c per barrel.

The burners for consuming the oil cost approximately $100.00 each plus duty and express.

Your Committee secured a quotation from the Wainwright Sheet Metal Works for two storage tanks at the following prices:

One 100 Barrel Tank	$265.00
One 10 Barrel Tank	39.50

In addition to this it will require approximately for installation 100 feet 3/4 in pipe, 20 feet 2 in pipe and about 75 feet of one inch.

Regarding the Feed water Heater we have the following quotation from the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Co.

100 H.P. Heater	$365.00 F.O.B.
Wainwright
200 H.P. Heater	450.00 F.O.B.

Trans. One-half cash balance three and six months.

Your Committee would recommend the purchase of the large Heater from an economy point of view.

As it is necessary to secure a new drive belt we would recommend that the Supt. be instructed to secure prices to be submitted to the Committee with power to act.

The services of J. Wilson have been secured for relieving at the plant during the holiday season of the Supt and assistants, whose services are proving very satisfactory.

Davidson-Knowles-That part of report re installation of crude oil at Power House be referred to Council as a whole Committee for discussion and action and that the balance of report be adopted—Carried.

Davidson-Welch-That no action be now taken re installation of crude oil at Power Plant pending future developments—Carried.

The Health Parks and Cemetery Committee reported that gopher poison had been used at the Cemetery.

Too good effect, and that portion of the bush had been cut also the grass had been sold to Mr. A. Love for the sum of five dollars on the unoccupied portions.

Telford-Lissimore-That the report of Health Parks and Cemetery Committee be accepted—Carried.

Knowles-Forsyth-That app'ce be received up to Sept 1st 1926 for the services of a General Utility man at a salary of $85.00 per month, and the balance of the understanding that said Utility man besides general labor be made an Officer of the Law—Carried.

Telford-Davidson-That leave be introduced to introduce a By-law No. 156 being a By-law authorizing the levying and collecting of Taxes for the year 1926—Carried.

By-law No. 156 was then introduced Lissimore-Telford-That By-law No. 156 be now read a first time—Carried.

Telford-Lissimore-That By-law No. 156 be read a second time.

By-law was then read a second time Telford-Welch-That By-law No. 156 be now read a third time and do pass, signed by the Mayor and Secretary Treasurer, the Corporate Seal attached thereto and that its Title be as in the original motion—Carried.

By-law was then given its third reading and declared by the Mayor as passed. (This validates the rate for the year 1926)

Davidson-Welch-That Council do now adjourn—Carried

SHOULD MAKE CARBON BLACK FROM WASTE GAS

A fortune awaits whoever can turn the millions of cubic feet of gas wasted every day in Alberta oil fields into profitable use by the manufacture of carbon black.

The building of a carbon black plant in the Turner Valley would go a long way toward solving the problem of preventing this enormous loss.

A report made in 1923 by J. O. Williams, Edmonton geologist for the Prairie Natural Gas Company, explains the enormous possibilities for the establishment of such an industry in this province at the present time.

Mr. Williams successfully operated an experimental plant at Craigmyle for the company. However, owing to lack of funds a factory was never built.

Carbon black is made by burning natural gas at a very low pressure and with sufficient air to complete combustion, resulting in the unconsumed carbon being deposited on a plate or roller against which a gas flame is allowed to impinge, from which it is removed by a separator.

The services of the plant are thousands of burners, while conveyors carry the carbon to a packing room as fast as it is scraped off the plates.

Carbon black is used in the manufacture of the following: Printers' ink, several lines of rubber goods including tires, paints, carbon paper, typewriter ribbons, phonograph records, paraffin, carriage cloth, black leather, bookbinders' board, shoe and stove polish, paper, electrical compositions, cameras, crayons and drawing ink. It possesses qualities that cannot be obtained in any other black manufactured from any other material than natural gas.

Mr. Williams' report reads in part: "By the use of carbon black in the auto tire industry, it has been found that the tire will not heat nearly as quickly. The tensile strength of the rubber is materially increased and some 20 per cent added to the mileage of the tire."

"Production of carbon black in the United States amounts to nearly 50,000,000 pounds annually, and the demand is increasing and is in excess of the supply."

"A plant costs approximately $25 per pound of carbon black produced so that a plant burning 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas that produces one pound of carbon black per 1000 cubic feet daily, will cost $25,000. Such a plant will require a force of six men with a pay roll of $850 per month, and an additional $150 per month for oil and supplies, making a gross operating expense of $1,000 per annum."

"One of the gas samples from Craigmyle well tested one and nine-tenths pounds of carbon black per each 1000 cubic feet and was of good grade, the report states."

"It is a plant with modern burners is installed at Craigmyle. I feel certain that in practice a larger amount can be produced," the report concludes—Examiner.

DELLINGER TO DRILL FOR THE NAT. EXPLORATION

It is expected that work will be started on the National Explorations Co.'s well in Wainwright field next week. Their site is just west of the producing Edmonton-Wain. well, which is good for over 300 barrels a day, and the oil fields of the company are very hopeful of good results.

Chuck Dellinger, who has been in the Wainwright field for some time now, was in Calgary on his way down to Los Angeles, when he was held in Calgary by a long distance call from Arthur Merburn, and as a result of telephonic arrangements, returned to Wainwright and will have charge of the new rig which the National Explorations company have now on the ground. The company officials have shown good judgment to supervise and conduct their work and there is scarcely a doubt but that the results will prove that they were right.

WEDDING BELLS KENNY-HENSMAN

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Hensman, 12038 81 street on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, when their young daughter, Ivy May, was united in marriage to John Anseley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kenny, of 104 street, Canon Caruthers officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Mr. Alfred Hensman and looked very charming in a gown of blonde flax crepe trimmed with touches of powder blue. She carried a shower bouquet of opheelia roses, and her only ornament was a rope of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Sophie Kenny, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride, and was given in pairs, green georgette. She carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations and sweet peas.

Mr. V. C. Williams was the best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Evelyn McNaish, who also sang "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony, a dainty buffet supper was served, the table being tastefully decorated with pink and white sweet peas, and centered with the wedding cake.

The gift of the bridegroom to the bride was a silver vanity case and to the best man a gold-mounted fountain pen.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenny left on the evening train for Prince Rupert, Vancouver and Spokane, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride traveling in a smart suit and costume with a small hat of sand and blue.

Many beautiful gifts were received by the popular young couple, among which was a case of Community plate from the staff of the F. W. Woolworth Co. of which the bride was a member.

EVERYBODY WONDERS HOW "DOUG" DID IT IN THIEF OF BAGDAD

It is evident that when Douglas Fairbanks produced The Thief of Bagdad which will be on view at the Elite Theatre on Friday and Saturday this week he had in mind to make the apparently impossible an accomplished fact. In every city where this picture has been shown the same strain has been: "I wonder how... this or that..."

When the redoubtable Doug clambered up a rope that is suspended in thin air—how he managed to do it, then he dives to the bottom of the water, kills an undersea monster, and when his subterranean business is finished he calmly propels himself to the surface. He enters an enchanted wood, where a tall tree at the wave of a hand, comes to life and walks around with uncanny celerity at all accepted ideas of tree conduct.

Later in the picture, the Thief climbs a flight of a Thousand Steps, that leads to the clouds and mounts a beautiful Winged Horse that gracefully flies away with Doug on his back. By now, you are ready to believe that anything is possible and when as a climax, you see Douglas Fairbanks step upon a Magic Carpet, it seems queer proper for the rig of its own volition to rise up, sail out of the window, circle the house-tops of Bagdad amidst the plaudits of the multitude, and disappear with its human freight across the rising moon.

The magic introduced into this film is so unusual that it would seem likely to be the dominating interest, but very wisely Douglas keeps everything subservient to the story and the beautiful romance of the Thief and the Princess is both compelling and dramatic, with a well balanced admixture of thrills and surprises.

DUPRE'S GARAGE TAKES AGENCY FOR THRESHERS

This week sees the Dupre garage supplied with a line of tractors and threshing outfits for this season's work. They are handling the well-known line of "Twin City" tractors and separators and all sizes can be supplied on short notice. In addition to this, as may be noted by the advertisement on another page, farmers may arrange to secure these machines on easy terms. If you are interested, drop in and talk it over with Dupre. He's sure out to make a deal if you are in the market.

CONSERVATIVES TO RUN GEORGE MORROW BATTLE RIVER RIDING

On Wednesday last at the Elite Theatre, the Conservatives of the Battle River riding held a routing convention and although the weather was not all that could be desired, the attendance was good and an enthusiastic meeting was the result.

The chairman of the Federal organization Mr. Geo. Hudson, was unable to be present, but Mr. E. Tregale, of Provost, most capably filled that position with Mr. J. Morrison, of Vermilion in the secretarial office.

The opening business of the gathering was the election of officers for the ensuing year and this resulted as follows:—

Pes.—E. Tregale Provost
Vice-pres.—L. Donnelly, Vermilion
Constituency vice-presidents elected were: Messrs J. McNish, Vermilion, J. Miller, Kitchissippi, R. Swallow, Irma, H. Hudson, Provost.

Mr. Morrison was again re-elected as secretary.

The Hon. Arthur Meighen and Mr. A. McGillivray were unanimously chosen as honorary president and honorary vice respectively.

In the speech by the president, it was clearly shown that considerable activity will be shown in the working of the association for the coming year, and the applause accorded his words augurs well for the support which the rank and file will give to any efforts put forth.

In opening the meeting for nomination for a candidate to contest this seat that the forthcoming elections on September 14th, much constructive discussion took place. The names of J. W. G. Morrison, of Vermilion, and Mr. George Morrow of Edgerton were then placed before the gathering, but the former gentleman expressed a desire to withdraw in favor of Mr. Morrow, whose nomination was then made that the new company's venture will be as good as that of the Battle River riding.

Mr. Morrow being absent from the meeting, but great confidence was expressed as to his ability to represent the riding down at Ottawa. Plans were then worked out by the executive to obtain the strongest support for their candidate, and optimism prevailed as to his chances in the coming fight.

Mr. Morrow is well known in the district, having been engaged in farming and mercantile pursuits at Edgerton for many years, and no doubt plans for his claims before the electorate at a number of meetings which are being planned: to be held during the campaign.

CROP REPORT SHOWS MOISTURE BADLY NEEDED

Lack of rain and hot weather over most the whole of the Prairie Provinces are causing wheat to ripen prematurely and are materially reducing the yield. Although the scattered areas report that conditions are satisfactory, in Manitoba cutting will be general within a week. In Quebec all crops continue to progress favourably, but now need rain. In Ontario recent rains, followed by warm bright weather have improved the crops and pastured, and conditions are promising. In even good rains recently reported from the Maritime Provinces, all crops continue to make good progress, and prospects generally are favourable, although rain would be beneficial in some localities. In British Columbia, crops generally are doing well, but the rain is still badly needed.

In Alberta conditions generally continue satisfactory with the exception of that lack of moisture has reduced the good.

WORK HAS NOW STARTED ON SITE FOR KLING-DEL REFINERY

The past week has seen a commencement of the work on the site for the new Kling-Del refinery, which is to be placed at the west edge of town.

All the details from the field have been inspected the results of this first coring and pronouncement the most heavily saturated that the field has yet produced. As it is known that 37 feet of oil sands exist here the additional coring is anxiously looked forward to. Some gas is present, but the well is filled with rotary mud to prevent unforced activity from the surface.

A twenty-foot test pit in the structure exists on the Western Consolidated location as compared with the Edmonton-Wainwright and British Petroleum wells, also the formation encountered greatly differed from previous shafts. Casing and cement are on hand for the completion of this hole.

Arrangements are already completed for the whole supply of the wells of several of the oil companies in the field, and more are likely to be added to this list by the time the plant is in operation. This is expected to take place within the next 45 or 60 days.

The first unit of the plant is ready for shipment; loaded on cars, and the building of the necessary housing for the plant will be undertaken as soon as the machinery is placed. It therefore seems to be highly probable that the whole concern will be well under way early in the fall, so that gasoline from our own oil wells will be produced right at our doors with the available market awaiting the product there should be good returns for the investors in the venture.

EMERALD WELL IS TO BE DRILLED DEEPER

California field geologists and drillers state that in the case of the Emerald well, which did not come in as expected, that the sands in that particular location are so tightly packed that they refuse to let out their contents fast enough to make it a satisfactory hole, though Saturday, after standing for a few days, the shaft contained 150 feet of oil.

As far as can be learned it is now the intention of the drillers at the Emerald well to continue drilling down through the limestone for possibly another hundred feet or so for the purpose of giving the new depth a full test as to quantity of production. The rig is expected to be able to show that possibly a finer oil as well as a bigger flow still will be the outcome of the greater depth.

FABYAN PETE STILL MERRIL BORING AWAY

Jim Carrington is still merrily boring away at the hole of the Fabyan Pete near the Maple Leaf producer. The strata is running true to the form of the latter well, and it is considered that the new company's venture will be as good as that of the Emerald well now in. The crew are working in continuous shifts and no time is being lost to produce returns at the earliest possible moment for the investors in this company.

OTHER BIG CONCERNS GETTING INTERESTED

During the past week two or three of the real big oil concerns on the continent have shown their interest in this field. Two geologists representing California Petroleum Co., as well as representatives of Union Oil Limited have been visiting the field and making a study of the formations and strata here. It is understood that as a result of the reports from these men, very large operations of acreage in the field have been covered. The two known of were for 10,000 and 15,000 acres of oil leases, and it looks that a not very distant date there may be some thing doing although at present it is all sub rosa.

HEAVILY SATURATED SANDS AT WEST CONSOL. HOLE

Saturday night the rotary under Hugh Campbell, and Driller Cruise cut through the hard rock structures they have been in for the past two weeks and pierced the oil sands at a depth of 2,219 feet. On Western Consolidated property, this is the northernmost quarter of L.S. 11; section 30, township 45, range 6, west of the fourth.

Ten feet of coring was done and the estimated yields in limited areas. Crops on well tilled lands are progressing satisfactorily in spite of the prolonged drought. Scattered showers and even good rains recently reported from different areas will benefit the crops. The wheat yield on the best dry lands is estimated at about 10 bushels per acre, the balance is poor to bad, but irrigated crops are that lack of moisture has reduced the good.

WAIN. MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL BOARD IS NOW FORMED

On Friday last, the inaugural meeting of the newly formed Wainwright Municipal Hospital Board was held in the Council chamber of the Town Hall when there were present Messrs W. Bowen, Wainwright Town; E. E. Jackson, M.D. 392; W. Fox, M.D. 422; W. Santer, M.D. 423. The representative from the M.D. 452 had not yet been appointed. Mr. A. K. Whiston, supervisor of the hospitals branch of the department of health was also in attendance.

At the outset, the notice from the minister of health calling the meeting was read, after which Mr. Bowen was elected to the chair on a motion by Messrs Jackson and Fox.

On a motion by Mr. Fox, seconded by Mr. Santer, Mr. W. Huntingford was appointed provisional secretary of the Board.

In a very lucid manner Mr. Whiston explained the general run of the business of the Board and the manner in which the hospital scheme has to be handled, and presented for the Board's perusal the Initial municipal hospital scheme as one fully suitable for the Wainwright district.

This scheme which was shown in blueprint form by Mr. Whiston described a brick erection some 90 feet by 40 feet, with a sun parlor extension and will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $35,000.00 to completely build and equip. The Board went very thoroughly into the matter and decided that such hospital would best meet the needs of this district, although in view of the fact that extra territory will probably be added to the original district very shortly it was decided to ask permission to float debentures for the sum of $37,500.00. At present hospital debentures are being eagerly bought at six per cent with a discount and are known as fully gilt edge securities.

On the motion of Messrs Jackson and Fox it was resolved that the scheme as prepared by the Board at this sitting be the one submitted to the Minister, and that the necessary publicity required be given the same to comply with the Act.

It was also decided on a motion that the necessary literature be prepared, and that pamphlets be mailed to every resident ratepayer in the hospital district and made available at every postoffice.

With regard to the size of the district, it was shown that a desire had been already expressed by other settlers to be included in the scheme, and therefore it was moved, by Messrs Jackson and Fox—That this Board having brought to their attention that residents in townships 44, 45 and 46 in range 9-64 have expressed a desire to join with the balance of M.D. 423 in this hospital district desire to assure such persons that they will assist by every possible means the inclusion of that territory by plebiscite immediately after the vote on the hospital scheme, providing that such persons comply with the provisions of the Municipal Hospitals Act in that regard. The motion carried unanimously.

After providing the chairman and secretary with the necessary authority to borrow the money necessary to carry through the organisation expenses, and to negotiate all financial matters connected with the same, the meeting adjourned.

THE GOLDEN COCOON RUTH CROSS

The Golden Cocoon with Helen C. Hadwick is a picture of this novel by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
Copyright, 1926, by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

When dark came down over the prairies, her train was still bounding to one of the stiff-starched dresses she along, faster and faster, more and more and always donned for the afternoon—more eager, it seemed to her, towards you'd answer that peaky bell. If this Mecca of hope, this gateway of you don't mind. 'The whole of her promise. Students were getting on their little pine knot of a body came now at every station with orange and white hands on sleeves and hats orange-and-white pennants on suits, or her steel-rimmed spectacles with mingled humor and concern. 'It's the first of the month, you know, and I'm not at home!'

Molly smiled rather dubiously as she gave a downward push to her own white frock, freshly laundered that very morning, and made an absent pass at her hair as she went by the mirror. Before she could reach the stairs there was another ring of the bell, louder this time and more insistent. She sighed. That was certainly a bill collector ring. Dear Mrs. Parker was the soul of honesty. It was pitiful she should have to hide and dodge like this, even if she did tell the little jest. And Molly didn't like to tell a lie.

Mrs. Parker is not in, she announced with cool impartiality one hand reaching suggestively for the door knob. 'No really.' The voice was deep and regretful and very masculine. She still did not look up. No but you care to come back—say a week or two from now—'

But my dear young lady—'

The tall figure stepped across the narrow aperture left by the gently but firmly closing door. His tone was unattractive, plainly humorous. The smile that went with it was wasted on Molly, however, for her eyes were fixed on a spot exactly two feet above the door knob. What am I to do in the meantime?'

The door edged a trifle closer, 'don't know. I'm sorry—'

But your hotel here is quite impossible, the persuasive, deep voice went on, injured, and I'm told on the heat of authority that Mrs. Parker's maid—'

Oh—'

The door and Molly's cornflower eyes flew open startled and simultaneously. You don't mean your a boarder—' stood aside with an easy deference which implied yet a subtle compliment. Too bad Mrs. Parker is not in—'

He settled himself in the chair she indicated and laid the folder on the table—' she could see now it was the sort of professors carried. With a resigned grimace he mopped at his brow. 'I'm afraid your climate is to be recommended only for salamanders,' he said.

Molly had never given the climate a thought, but she felt sorry he was displeased about anything. 'It does get hot in the afternoons,' she admitted. Then she explained quickly that Mrs. Parker was in. 'It's the first of the month, you see, and we couldn't be sure—'

'Hum-m!'

The stranger threw back his beautiful dark head and laughed—this time aloud. 'You took me for a bill collector, eh?'

She moved quickly to the door, with some murmur about 'calling Mrs. Parker' out of the room as swiftly as decorum would permit. She was intensely conscious of his eyes riveted with casual, detached interest on her back. No doubt he had noted the very piece of 'place in her skirt! She paused at Mrs. Parker's door, retailed briefly the business in hand, then ran on up to her own room.

Many a reproachful twinge of conscience she suffered because she did not want to go home. Molly was not one of those blessed, well-born people who defer readily and gracefully to others. She was not more selfish perhaps than the normal healthy young person, but franker about it. She was stubborn and head-strong, and above all things on earth she hated compromise.

Molly was nineteen now, lithe, willowy, not too tall, slim to a fault. The sunburn had faded from her skin, leaving it smoothly transparent with a dash of poppy petals underneath. Her eyes were of the same dazzling cornflower blue, her hair dusky black with a smoke blue haze upon it—gifts both from her father's Celtic inheritance. A forehead not too high but generous, wide, winged black brows, a nose not very straight resolute but sensitive chin, mobile lips that matched the povy hue in her cheeks, could quiver readily to laughter or tears and usually did neither. Such outwardly at least, was Molly on the eve of that memorable August.

CHAPTER V
'Molly—Mrs. Parker popped her head in at the door, and Molly guessed from certain crackly noises that she

The arrangement with Mrs. Parker did not include any waiting on the table—sufficient comment on that discerning little woman's kindness of heart. But the next morning, the first occasion on which she new boarder was to appear, Molly made some excuse to stay in the kitchen until the others were through. As the breakfast hour drew near dread had increased to positive panic. How could she ever look at him again?

'Molly you run 'long and eat now. Mrs. Parker advised bustling into the kitchen with a towering pyramid of plates. There were not enough boards to justify keeping on her servants, and she acted as both cook and waitress. 'I'll be directly.'

Molly who had been cooking waffles tossed off her apron, pushed back the hair from her hot face, and went toward the dining room—exquisitely cool and inviting after the broiling kitchen. On the threshold she brought up short, one hand to her heart, which pounded smotheringly. She was just turning to fly when a deep voice obo from the depths of a new paper, 'Good morning. It's no use running, you know, because I've seen already! A leisurely motion of the paper indicated the sideboard mirror opposite.

The new boarder—she was the only one left in the room—looked round quizzically as Molly hesitated in the doorway. He rose, pulled out the chair across from him, steered her toward it, adjusted her at precisely the right angle. 'There,' he said, setting the fern dish to one side. 'What could be more charming? And how very nice of you to wait and keep me company. Molly's colorful face whitened a little. The tide of shame and anger started mounting again. 'I didn't see it,' she said. 'I supposed that everybody—'

'Oh, by the way you haven't told me your name. I dare say Mrs. Parker gave you mine—'

Again that disturbing smile which seemed to say more than he had said. 'Molly—' he echoed after her. 'Molly Shannon—um-m, that's pretty Irish, isn't it?'

The name is. I'm not—so very much.'

'I see—'

He leaned forward, hands clasped along the table edge, the ingenuous smile still in his eyes. 'Now suppose you tell me all about yourself.'

Molly gasped and started to laugh uncertainly. The situation was saved by Mrs. Parker who bobbed into the room at that moment with a tray of piping-hot waffles. Her glance darted from Molly's carmine cheeks to the new boarder with the alert motion of a kindly, designing little woodpecker. If all women are matchmakers, Mrs. Parker was a woman to the tips of her stubby, hard-working fingers. She was an ardent and incurable believer in matrimony. No sooner had she clapped eyes on Mr. Stephen Renfro and deduced by a subtle process all her own that he was a bachelor than she had him figuratively roped and thrown. Molly was not ambitious, not unattractive. Here was a handsome, prosperous-looking man right to your hand, as it were—six weeks, no competition, boredom, propinquity! What more could anybody ask?

'Mrs. Parker is not in,' she announced.

Mr. Stephen Renfro was, it developed in the course of time, an efficiency expert for colleges. He had been engaged at a very high salary, as college salaries go to put university on its feet, financially and otherwise. He was to conduct a state-wide publicity campaign.

Renfro possessed a more than facile tongue, a ready pen, a more than facile wit. He had had several years' successful experience in this kind of work. He had lived in pretty much every section of the country, but he was a native of Georgia—a fact of which he was in common with the entire population of that convict-settled state, was in

It's my father—he's dead. They want me to come—'

She looked about with some vague idea that she must have her hat—'

The next moment Renfro had her by both elbows was steering her toward the parlor. He was, as usual, late to breakfast and the others had come and gone. Molly sitting bolt upright on the sofa where he had left her, heard him go quickly to the back of the house where Mrs. Parker was. She read the telegram again. It was from her Aunt Lena. It said suddenly. Per for particulars

The next moment Renfro had her by both elbows ordinarily proud. One saw at a glance too, that he came of one of those time honored 'first families' which seem to have spawned so prolifically in the old line Southern states.

At all events, he was a new species to Molly, and she looked with respect and awe upon his incredible list of attainments. One day when he had tried longer than usual after dinner and Mrs. Parker made some artful pretext for leaving them alone together, she confessed hesitatingly that she was trying to write. He had a trick of jarring loose one's most jealously guarded secrets like that without trying to or caring in the least after he had done so.

He gave her a whimsical, confusing stare, pronounced while he took the last three puffs from his cigar and squashed the glowing butt thoughtfully against the ash tray. Then, 'God play you, my child,' he said slowly and distinctly. The humorous quirk to the left corner of his mouth was more than usually pronounced.

CHAPTER VI
Perfection can endure at best but for a season. Molly was not yet adept enough in life to know that this as it should be—inevitable and beneficent. On the morning of the thirty-first day of August she came downstairs simultaneously with a loud, thrice-repeated ring at the door bell. Before she could reach the foot of the stairs Stephen Renfro, who was just entering the hall had taken the yellow envelope from the boy and signed for it. He had advanced toward Molly, his face a little graver than was his custom.

'I hope it's nothing serious,' he said as he put it into her hand.

'For me—'

Molly had never received happened the husband had gotten him all or all—some complication. Her mouth needed her. She must go, of course but there was not one word about money for her fare. Mrs. Parker let her have it. She could, she insisted stoutly if not very convincingly, spare it just as well as not. Molly was to take her own time about paying it back. Molly knew that the next day was the first and that the tradesmen were already queuing at the doors, but there was no choice. She must not fall her mother now; she had stayed away far too long as it was. Such were the miserable straits and pinches to which poverty could reduce.

MAKING CARBON

In seeking methods of profitably disposing of the waste gas from Alberta oil wells serious consideration should be given to the question of manufacturing carbon black.

As a by-product of the oil industry, carbon black might easily swell the dividends of companies operating plants and at the same time would save the gas from being wasted.

While burning gas to make carbon black is not putting it nearly as good a use as in burning it for fuel and light, the manufacture of this important by-product is highly desirable until such time as arrangements can be made to use the gas for industrial purposes on a much larger scale.

Undoubtedly many prairie points that are without a supply of gas will be linked up with the gas-producing fields in the next ten years. But it will take considerable time to organize and construct a distribution system that will take care of the enormous output of gas from the Turner Valley and other similar field. These lines may be run in time to every important city on the prairies; but until the west has been converted to gas as fuel, the man surplus, when consumption is down.

There are fields where the flow of gas is not sufficient for any purpose other than making carbon black.

By putting wet gas through absorption plants and by burning the dry gas after the gasoline content was taken out, everything would be turned to profit.

The enormous market available for carbon black may be seen from the 1925 figures for the industry in the United States. Last year the total production across the line amounted to 177,417,378 pounds, of which 25 per cent was exported. It is estimated that 140,000,000 cubic feet of gas was burned to produce the above, and that the average recovery per thousand cubic feet was 1.3 pounds. Alberta gas has at least this recovery average as far as tests have been made.

At present Canada is importing carbon black from the United States. Last year the American production dropped of five per cent. If this decrease continues prices will begin to soar. At any rate, there is no reason why Canada should continue to import this important industrial commodity. With decreasing output in the United States, there is every opportunity for this country to capture a large share of the foreign market.—Oil Ex.

OIL DRILLING PROCEEDS STEADILY

In their preoccupation with the vagaries of the oil stock prices, the public of Calgary, Alberta and Canada as a whole is apt to lose sight of the fact that whatever may be the ups and downs of the stock market, oil development in Western Canada is proceeding on a scale never before attempted.

Each week sees one or more new wells "spudded" in on the structures mapped in various localities. Each day tells a story of more footage made by many well being sunk in search of the pay sands. It is the big picture, however, between the old oil boom days and the new development which is attracting attention in oil circles all over the world.

It must be said of the companies engaged in active development work so far that the great bulk of them have kept faith with the public. That is they are putting the money raised from the public into the actual drilling of the wells. So long as this policy is pursued, the average investor will be found standing behind the companies to the limit; if the holes, when completed, are "dry," that is merely the fortune of war. It is the fact of whether or not they are drilled that interests the investor.

The failure of some stocks to respond largely to the "bringing in" of the well as a producer is disappointing to many speculators, but it cannot be denied that in the long run, the failure of a new boom to develop at this moment is perhaps one of the best features in the new development.

It means that the public is growing cautious in the buying of oil stocks; that the man who has some money to put into such venture is looking ahead a little of the days of actual production. The answer to this problem for companies attempting to finance new drilling is that they must offer better and better propositions to the investor if they want to use his money; in short, they must let the public in on precisely the same basis as the promoter. This dictum will become more and more apparent as development proceeds.

WILL EXHIBIT IN U.S.

Announcement has been made by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, that the province will place an exhibit for immigration publicity purposes at the Interstate Fair at Sioux City, Iowa, in September. The exhibit will include a display of grains and grasses collected from all parts of the province, coal and tar sands, illuminated photographs of scenes throughout the province and other material. The interstate fair at Sioux City includes the States of Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota, and is one of the outstanding fairs in the middle Western States.

In making this announcement, Hon. Mr. Hoadley stated that it was deemed better to expend the money appropriate for this purpose in sending an exhibit to the States, where a greater field for settlers exists, than to the Toronto Exhibition. The usual assistance will be given to the exhibit of the Women's Institute at Toronto. The usual exhibits of seed grain and livestock are also to be sent to the international show at Chicago in December.

Fellows, minor canon of St. George's chapel, Windsor Castle, and the choir of St. George's, will visit Canada early next year on the invitation of the Canadian Government.

The GREATEST McLAUGHLIN-BUICK EVER BUILT

An Engine Vibrationless Beyond Belief

The McLaughlin Motor Car Company, Limited, today presents the 1927 McLaughlin-Buick, with an engine vibrationless beyond belief.

This achievement, we earnestly believe, will rank as one of the most important in all motor car history.

Our engineers, working in conjunction with the engineering staffs of General Motors Research Laboratories and General Motors Proving Ground have divorced the annoyance of vibration to a point never before attained.

They have given McLaughlin-Buick motor cars a new luxury of quietness at every speed, exceptional among all cars, no matter what their price.

Other Vital Improvements

Another revolutionary improvement in the 1927 McLaughlin-Buick is the vacuum-cleaned crankcase. Crankcase moisture, the vicious foe of engine efficiency, is now drawn out of the crankcase before it has an opportunity to do harm. The crankcase is cleaned and kept free of dilution by the McLaughlin-Buick Vacuum Ventilator, a new device, operated by the air flow positive and certain in action, and without a single moving part. The oil in the crankcase of the 1927 McLaughlin-Buick need be changed only four times a year!

McLaughlin-Buick performance is now made more certain, more pleasant and more economical.

Never in all the twenty-two years of McLaughlin-Buick success has there been offered such convincing proof of engineering and manufacturing leadership. McLaughlin-Buick offers you today a brilliant example of the quality of McLaughlin-Buick craftsmanship—

Confident that acquaintance with its performance and value will fix in mind the conviction that money can buy nothing finer—

Certain that you will discover, in this great new car, further evidence of the deep meaning in the longstanding pledge: "When Better Automobiles are built, McLaughlin-Buick Will Build Them."

Control by thermostatic control in the cooling system. Water circulation is prevented and the heat held in the engine, until the proper operating temperature is reached. Gear noise is removed by McLaughlin-Buick's new gear: tooth transmission, which is quiet in all of its speeds. Further quietness has been obtained by a new muffler design. And in this remarkable new car McLaughlin-Buick introduces balanced wheels, another contribution to better driving. The princely beauty of the new Fisher bodies is in thorough keeping with the unusual and incomparable performance standards now attained.

The Most Remarkable Fact of All—Value

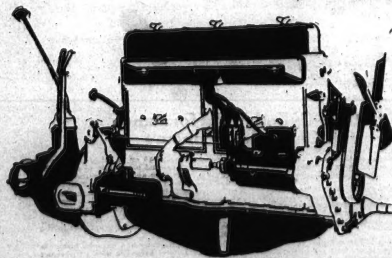

The Greatest of all McLaughlin-Buicks is the Greatest of all McLaughlin-Buicks values. McLaughlin-Buick volume has permitted engineering research and development on a scale far beyond the reach of most manufacturers.

Constant improvement has leveled one price barrier after another, until now you are offered, in this new McLaughlin-Buick, a car as fine as money can buy, at the price of cars of ordinary quality.

This car will convince you, as no other car can, that money can buy nothing finer—no matter how much you may be able to spend!

MONTE BLUE GETS HEARTS DESIRE IN "RED HOT TIRES"

Buried deep in the secret recesses of each man's heart is some particular thing he has always longed to do. It might be the most nonsensical sounding thing to an outsider, a silly trifle, but to him it is important.

Exactly this was the case with Monte Blue, who had the secret ambition of his life fulfilled in a scene from "Red Hot Tires," his latest Warner Bros. picture. It is in the sequence where he heaves a stone through the plate glass window of a bank. While it is rather strange for a full grown man to have such a desire, it is explained by Monte himself.

"When I was a kid, a gang of us playing ball broke a neighbor's window. I was nearest the house, and so I was caught, blamed, and naturally whipped for the offense. But the crash had fascinated me, and from that day on, every time I stood in front of a large plate glass window I have thought what a nice resounding crash it would make and wondered what the penalty for gratifying this desire would be.

Showing at the Elit Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

KEEPING THE ELECTRICAL SYSTEM WELL GROOMED

Discovering what is wrong when the electrical system goes bad is not the mystery that it is cracked up to be. For most of the troubles that occur are surprisingly easy to locate and remedy, and your present day motorist is no dummy. But he does admit that he doesn't like to get his hands dirty and so neglects the vital points in proper upkeep. Should he do these little things adjustments and repairs could be avoided.

Loose terminals are a source of very considerable loss of efficiency. Equally important is to keep the terminals and those of the starter, the dynamo switches and cut-out. Pure vasoline will keep the battery terminals from corroding. And these terminals, if tight and well greased, will effect an enormous saving in current and freedom from breakdowns.

Lighting troubles are frequently caused by loose or dirty connections. The connections at every point should be scrutinized most carefully as the search proceeds. This applies to the fuse and switch box. As an illustration, a dead light recently was found to be due to the fuse wire being loose at one end.

A flickering light may be caused by a loose or dirty connection, or by a short circuit. And a dead light may be due to the same causes.

The ammeter will quickly show whether a flickering light is due to a loose connection or a short circuit. If when the light goes out, the ammeter reading is reduced, the cause is a loose connection. On the contrary, if the reading is increased, the trouble is produced by a short circuit.

If a dead light is caused by a short circuit this fact will be indicated by the ammeter which will show discharge even after the bulb is removed. But if the dead light is due to a broken connection, or a loose connection, no indication will appear on the ammeter even when the bulb is in place.

Perhaps the simplest way to locate the short circuit is to disconnect the wires in the circuit one by one, rubbing the disconnected end over its terminal so that it will give a spark if current is flowing. This search may be started at the lamp and continued back to the switch.

POOL MUST PAY ELEVEN MILLION FOR ELEVATORS

REGINA. The total amount to be paid for the elevator system of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator company, Ltd., by the Saskatchewan Pool Elevators, Ltd., is $11,059,310.47 under the terms of the award handed down by a majority of the board of arbitrators.

The total purchase price is made up as follows:

Country elevator system $5,114,873.54

Office property at Regina, $271,481.29

Terminal plant at Port Arthur $4,084,832.59

Terminal plant of Buffalo, $1,534,200.39

Equipment at Port Arthur leased elevator, $53,922.66

Total $11,059,310.47

The majority award is signed by the chairman, Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon and C. D. Howe. The dissident member of the board, W. G. Styles the representative of the wheat pool disagreed with the majority as to the amount to be placed on the country elevators. Mr. Styles wanted to add

A greater depreciation up the country elevators than the other two members of the board and his proposal, if adopted would have reduced the purchase price by $361,000.

The award is approximately $1,400,000 less than the price asked for the property by the vendor their claim being $12,424,331.07 and approximately $700,000 more than the purchaser's offer, the Wheat Pool having offered to pay $10,308,822.32

MIX-UPS DUE TO "CRAZY DRIVER"

Copless traffic jams—traffic tangles where there are no traffic officers at hand—are causing a lot of trouble and worry to motor car drivers throughout the United States, as well as to pedestrians.

It is the reckless and heedless driver who "busts" into an intersection with no thought whatsoever of how madly he may tangle up automobile travel. He's a strange type of "nut," who operates his car with no thought of the other fellow, and with absolutely no thought for the general welfare of motoring conditions.

Analyze a traffic jam and you find—what? You sneak into the jumble bound that you're going to get through somehow. The other fellow has the same idea, hence when an opening occurs in front of your radiator you close it up—or the other fellow beats you to it, with the result that traffic moves tightly locked than ever. Or maybe you're a polite cuss and let the other fellow take advantage of the opening. And the other fellow does that little thing and he's damned to your politeness—and you're tied in a knot with forty other cars.

The Golden Rule isn't working these modern days and yet the Golden Rule is the only thing that can ever cure—hope to cure—a traffic jam.

If you are going to turn to the right then edge over near to the curb on your right hand. If you are going to turn to the left, then edge over toward the left of your side of the street, and if you are going straight ahead over the intersection, then steer a middle course.

A lot of bad traffic tangles are caused by motorists trying to make their turns from the wrong position. Just keep in mind when you approach a busy intersection that you should come up to it in the right position and then you will not cross in front of other people who are also trying to reach their destination. Don't blow your horn off trying to hurry the other fellow ahead of you. Don't go into the tangle so fast that you cannot back up a little and make room for some-

The Smoothest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History!

for Economical Transportation

ARTHUR DUPRE

Multiple-Cylinder Performance with Chevrolet Economy

—that's why hundreds of thousands of owners are producing today's Chevrolet the greatest achievement in Chevrolet history!
Into the field of low-priced cars, today's Chevrolet has brought exactly the slowest and smoothest, exactly the velvety acceleration, exactly the freedom from high-speed vibration that have been the big reasons for the buying of multiple-cylinder cars.
Imagine loading up a hill in a loaded car—with the motor turning so easily that you are almost unconscious of its operation. You can in the smooth Chevrolet!
Imagine cruising from 10 to 20 miles an hour before your watch ticks ten (ten)—with never a tick of strain or labor in the motor. You can in the smooth Chevrolet!
Imagine speeding at 40 or 50 miles an hour in a Coach or Sedan—and being able to talk without raising your voice above the conversational pitch. You can in the smooth Chevrolet!
And above all, imagine the satisfaction of enjoying such phenomenal qualities together with an amazing economy of operation. You do in the smooth Chevrolet!
Let us take you for a demonstration ride in the smoothest Chevrolet.
The smoothest Chevrolet in Chevrolet history is selling at the Lowest Price for which Chevrolet has ever been sold in Canada.

Wainwright Municipal Hospital Scheme

NOTICE TO RATEPAYERS

In accordance with the terms of the Municipal Hospital Act, petitions were received by the Minister of Health at Edmonton, asking for the creation of a Municipal Hospital District including the territory described below.

Complying with these petitions, the Minister of Health established the Municipal Hospital District on July 26th 1926. Following the establishment of the District, the Municipal Councils in the said District, in accordance with the terms of the Act, duly appointed a Hospital Board to prepare a scheme for the building and operating of a Hospital in the said district.

The scheme is now, under the direction of the Minister of Health, to be advertised throughout the said District for a period of fourteen days following which, providing all other conditions have been complied with, the scheme will be finally approved and a date fixed, not exceeding thirty days from the date of such approval, upon which the ratepayers of the said District will be called upon to vote for the adoption or rejection of the said scheme. The territory included in a Hospital District is as follows:

Town of Wainwright
Municipal District No. 392—Comprising Townships 42 and 43, in Ranges 4, 5 and 6, excepting that portion within the Buffalo Park Reserve.

All of Municipal District No. 422
Municipal District No. 423—Comprising Townships 44, 45 and 46 in Ranges 7 and 8 excepting that portion within the Buffalo Park Reserve.

Municipal District No. 432—All that portion of Township 47, in Range 5 and 6 South of the Battle River.

The basis of the scheme is as follows:

1. To accept as a free gift from the Town of Wainwright, or purchase, a suitable site subject to the approval of the Minister of Health at or near the Town of Wainwright.
2. To erect a Municipal Hospital, a duplicate of the Innisfail Hospital as near as may be, and to equip the same with an operating room and all necessary appliances.
3. To supplement the revenue derived from taxation by a schedule of fees as under:
